

The Favorite Teacher

My favourite teacher is Om, the supreme lord, the Ultimate Father. He who guides us on every path of life and loves us ever-conditionally. The parmatma, the All-Pervading, the Almighty are his various names. His arms extend in endless directions and his right hand is creating the world and the left one is destroying it. He is the bodiless, the ultimate, the knower of the field. He has had various emobidemnets , one of the being Lord Krishna. Krishna Ji is also known as Mohan, Govinda, Keev and Gopala. His blue sapphire skin , flute and crown having various types of gems and jade, his almond shape eyes make him ever attractive and charming. He is usually seen with his consort, Radha. He is ever kind and generous which is displayed in His various activities and pleasures. He used to break pots filled with butter for his poor friends to enjoy. His best students are those who display kindness, generosity and philanthropy.
